Tariff Bill Passed by Senate After Months of Heated Controversy.

AFTER months of heated and acrimonious controversy the senate passed the tariff bill by a vote of 53 to 31. It goes back to the house which passed it last May and will be thrashed over in conference committees of the two houses. The result will be a compromise bill which may be expected in about six weeks.

The bill as passed by the senate represents a higher degree of protection than that afforded under the present law, but provides duties on a somewhat lower level than the bill passed by the house.

Senator Reed Smoot (Rep., Utah) told the senate that the dutiable items in the bill as passed represent the equivalent of an average ad valorem rate of 38.09 per cent, as compared with 40.54 per cent as reported from the finance committee, 43.15 per cent as passed by the house, 34.61 per cent in the present law and 21.05 per cent in the Underwood act of 1913. The senate made 1,253 amendments to the house bill, according to Senator Smoot.

Among the features of the senate bill are included many increases in rates on agricultural products over those granted in the house bill, a somewhat smaller increase in the duty on sugar than in the house bill, imposition of duties on cement and brick as in the house bill, a new duty on soft wood lumber, elimination of duties on shingles and hardwood lumber as proposed in the house bill, lower duties than in the house on aluminum, pig iron, watches and clocks, and on many chemicals and other manufactured articles.

Bitter contests in the deliberations of the conference committees of the two houses are expected over the export debenture farm relief provision and repeal of the flexible tariff which is in the senate bill. Senator Borah, who voted for the bill, indicated that he did so chiefly because of his support of these two provisions, and intimated that he would vote against any conference report that eliminated them.

On the final vote on the bill 46 Republicans and 7 Democrats voted for the bill, while 26 Democrats and 5 Republicans voted against it. The radicals split, seven of them voting for the bill and one being paired for the bill while five voted in the negative.

THE question of paying the price which France demands for joining a five-power navy reduction treaty has been passed up to Great Britain by the United States delegation. If the British government offers a security guarantee acceptable to France, the American delegation may favorably consider America's commitment to a consultative pact.

Under this plan Great Britain would be pledged to protect France against aggression. America would be pledged to consult with European powers in the event of a European war, but would not be bound to employ armed force against the aggressor. It is not clear whether the United States would be committed by implication to take sides in a European quarrel, and join any boycott proclaimed by the League of Nations. Whether the British government will make a concession in line with a security guarantee acceptable to France is the big question of the moment, and one MacDonald's cabinet must soon decide.

Since the beginning of the conference France has been trying to induce Great Britain to underwrite French security. Hitherto the British have refused to give France security guarantees, declaring against entangling military alliances. But both France and Great Britain would like to commit the United States to an understanding by which this country would not be neutral in case of a European war, but would respect any blockade declared by the League of Nations. Now the American delegation holds out promise of such an approach to commitment of a character represented by a consultative pact on the condition Great Britain will give France an acceptable guarantee.

Foreign Minister Briand of France has returned to the conference and is happy in seeing what he believes is a surrender by Great Britain and the United States to the French demand for a security pact.

THAT France has reduced her army by 44 per cent since 1913 was claimed by Senator Albert Mahieu as the senate approved the 1930 army budget. Expenditures, however, increased, owing to a boost in war material. This year France will begin the application of the one-year service act, practically all conditions now being fulfilled. One of these conditions is that a force of 100,000 permanently enlisted men should be maintained.

RT. REV. James De Wolf Perry, Episcopalian primate of the Episcopal church at a session of the house of bishops in Chicago. He succeeds the late Bishop Charles P. Anderson of Chicago. Bishop Perry as primate or presiding bishop occupies a position in the United States comparable to that of the archbishop of Canterbury in England. Bishop Perry is a great-nephew of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry, hero of the battle of Lake Erie in 1812.

PROPOSALS to pay World war veterans a portion of the face value of their adjusted compensation certificates in cash received a death blow in a letter from Secretary Mellon to Representative Hawley, chairman of the house ways and means committee. Under a bill fathered by Representative Cochran the $633,000,000 now held to the credit of the adjusted compensation fund would be made available for the payment to certificate holders of 25 per cent of the face value of the certificates.

In his letter Secretary Mellon pointed out that the Cochran proposal is based on the false assumption that all of the $633,000,000 reserve is immediately available.

The fact is that in order to finance the scheme it would be necessary to increase taxes or authorize a bond issue for the purpose, he wrote, thereby increasing the public debt with "a consequent disruption of the orderly program upon which the government is proceeding."

THE Department of Agriculture announces that a 2.8 per cent increase in the acreage of corn this year, a 15 per cent decrease in that of durum wheat, and a .1 per cent increase in the acreage of all other spring wheat, as compared with last year's harvest acreages, were indicated by farmers' intentions on March 1 to plant this spring.

The report was based on returns from about 50,000 farmers and was intended to furnish information which would enable farmers to make such adjustments in their plans for this year's plantings as may seem desirable.

THE Canadian house of commons, by a vote of 173 to 12, passed Prime Minister King's bill to ban liquor exports to the United States.

The galleries were crowded for the final commons scene in connection with the bill. Senators, who will now have the bill in hand in the upper chamber, crowded their railed sanctum overlooking the commons floor, following the vote with keen interest. The 173 to 11 majority recorded for the bill is one of the largest on commons' records, and the total vote of 184 out of a possible 244 votes indicates a remarkably large attendance of members.

HIGH treasury officials express confidence that the 1 per cent income tax reduction granted by congress for the year 1929 can be continued this calendar year. Income tax collections for March have exceeded expectations thus far, and the financial outlook for the government for the remainder of the fiscal year 1930 at least is bright.

Revenues from income taxes for the fiscal year that ends June 30 now total $1,785,282,957, or $134,000,000 more than was collected for the corresponding period last year. This collection has given the treasury books a paper surplus of $101,557,270, despite a falling off of customs receipts for the year of $26,000,000.

Treasury experts hold that with settlement of the pending tariff bill the custom duty collections will expand.

Federal actuaries believe the heaviest drain on the treasury will come from the federal farm board. Congress has just appropriated an additional $100,000,000 for the board. How much the board will be forced to draw from the fund is dependent upon the agriculture situation.

THE great North German Lloyd liner Europa broke the world's record on her maiden trip to the United States. She smashed the record held by her sister ship, the Bremen, by 18 minutes, and could easily have bettered the mark by several hours. The official time from Cherbourg breakwater to Ambrose lightship was 4 days, 17 hours and 6 minutes. It took the Bremen 18 minutes longer. So the crown of the fastest liner in the world goes to the Europa.

CHAIRMAN ALEXANDER LEGGE of the federal farm relief board has put himself emphatically on record as opposed to the development of any new irrigation and reclamation enterprises by the government. So long as the farm board is striving to reduce the acreage of wheat and other agricultural commodities the opening of new lands which would increase surpluses is "unwarranted and absolutely contrary to common sense," Mr. Legge asserted. He added that he has had conversations with Interior department officials on the subject and that more active steps by the board may follow.

"Certainly," the farm board chairman continued, "we will stand squarely against the idea in congress that machinery had arrived Sam discovered that the fire had been in the rear of his trousers. He had put his pipe in his pocket. Naturally, the news spread soon much of the story.

The next day a veteran newspaper man told me that none had written so clever a headline as a friend of his had written twenty years ago during a similar occurrence. The headline was: "Sixty Firemen Rush to Blaze in One Pair of Pants."

Increased Interest in Good Books Universal

Chicago.—Books will supplant jazz as the pace-setter in popularity in the new decade.

A well informed mind will be the open sesame to social leadership in the thirties, as the ability to entertain universally was the badge of popularity in the twenties, according to Ellsworth D. Foster, managing editor of the World Book.

"Indications on every hand point to an increased interest in good books," said Mr. Foster, in an address before a group of college students here. "Interest in good books is not confined to any class of society or to any particular age group, but is practically universal.

"Children are no longer content with light literature but devour what is their reading, going to the same books as those used by their elders for their information about things in general."

LIGHTS of NEW YORK

By GRAIN DIXON

Homelike

Will James, the celebrated cowboy author-artist who wrote "Smoky" and other horse stories that have gone over big, was in New York recently. "Bill," as he is known to his friends, spent years in the saddle as a cowboy, roaming all over the cattle states of the West. Now he has a big ranch in Montana and spends most of his winters writing at San Antonio.

"Bill" invited me to his room at the Algonquin, and when he opened the door and I stepped in, I stepped on a Navajo blanket and spied another one on a couch.

"I always carry 'em with me when I travel," said James. "They're the only things that will keep me from getting so homesick that I'd hit the trail right out for the West."

Meaningless

One of the more meaningless details of New York life is the business of supplying references when one wants to move into a new apartment. A friend of mine, a dramatic critic, is lodged in a towering, exclusive building. He informs me he had to pass close scrutiny before he was allowed to sign a lease.

Yet his neighbor on the top floor is the proprietor of a speak-easy around the street. He is a relative of one of New York's most notorious gangsters. He is politically powerful, though, and once a year gives a huge bull in his own honor at one of the better hotels.

His apartment is a fortress. The door is of armor steel. He didn't like ordinary windows, so he had a church supply house make him stained glass windows.

The Vanishing German

There are, even at this late date, five German bands in New York, and if you look hard enough you may find one playing on a street corner. But the business isn't what it used to be. Variety reports that the average income for each man in these bands was a dollar a day last year. They used to get three times more by playing in front of speakeasies, but the police chased them away.

INVALID DEVOTES LIFE TO OTHERS

Seattle Doctor Is Practical Idealist.

Seattle, Wash.—A practical idealist, whose creed is "service" and who gives a philosophy of cheerfulness to those who are down, such a man is Dr. Frank R. Loope of Seattle.

For eighteen years he has been bedridden.

A reporter walked into the "office," a big sun porch, as one of two telephones at his bed rang and the doctor proceeded to aid a World war veteran in getting out of jail.

Doctor Loope lay flat on his back, the two telephones within easy reach, letter files at the side of his bed, a checkbook on the covers, magazines, papers, cigarettes and a radio at hand.

And there he directs almost innumerable enterprises—aiding individuals to overcome physical handicaps.

The physician picked up a specially framed mirror and focused it on his guests. He is unable to turn his head, but he can move his eyes and arms. Thus he is able to follow the movements and expressions of any one in his room.

Finds Jobs for Unemployed.

Under the general title of "sunshine industries," Doctor Loope is the directing genius behind a wheel chair store, a repair store, is building up a fund for an industrial home for shutins and arranges hundreds of programs for invalids.

The industrial home—where those ailing themselves would be able to contribute to their work—is his big dream.

In addition to that work, Doctor Loope finds positions for those who have been handicapped. He distributes relief advice, acts as father confessor to hundreds of persons, advises as a physician and arranges for medical attention.

His telephone rang constantly during the interview.

The soldier was paroled to his custody, then a hysterical woman telephoned. Calm tones replied to shrill voice, and then, ironically, an organization that had contacted his telephone number called to ask him to buy two tickets to a dance.

Conducts Column.

The doctor is not a wealthy man, in fact he frequently encounters difficulty in obtaining funds for his many enterprises, in addition to those needed for himself.

For years after he was stricken, the doctor related, "I felt I was terribly abused." Then he adopted the philosophy of "Smashine and Smiles," the title of a column he conducts for shut-ins in the Seattle Star.

"I don't preach. I serve," he said. "Help the shut-in to help himself—to keep himself away from his troubles."

Although bedridden eighteen years, Doctor Loope is no invalid. He is more healthy mentally by far than millions who have complete use of their bodies.

Disease Kills Canadian Geese Wintering in U. S.

Ocracoke, N. C.—A malady that resulted in extermination of thousands of wild Canadian geese has made its appearance among migratory fowls wintering along the Carolina coast. The disease results from undernourishment and from feeding in localities where the bottoms are covered with mud.

During windy weather game taking wing along the coast here could be picked up or easily caught by small boys. They put them in goose ponds, where they soon died.

In some sections the shores are strewn with dead game that has been washed in by the tides. A gunner coming out during the close of the season could expect four to six of his bag of eight to be underweight and unsuitable for food.

Street Car Conductor Now a Soviet Chieftain

Moscow.—Yesterday a street car conductor—today an important member of the cabinet of the Russian Federated Socialist Republics.

That, literally, is the story of A. S. Bubnoff, whose designation as secretary of the council of people's commissars of the R. S. F. S. R. (the largest of the groups constituting the Soviet union) has been announced.

Bandurin has for years been an active Communist and prominent in party circles. However, he held no official post. Until this appointment he earned his living as a conductor on a Moscow tram. His elevation, as may be supposed, has stimulated conversation in trams and this writer has heard several tram conductors asked when they would become commissars.

Work of Early Farmers Recognized

Styles in ships have changed greatly since the first commercial fertilizer was brought to this country. Above—Modern liner of the type that carries 1,000,000 tons of nitrate of soda annually to the United States from Chile. Right—Freighter in the service of the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau.

THE older generation among Southern farmers deserves credit for laying the foundations of the modern soil-improvement programs which have proved so successful in increasing yields and profits on our farms.

This is shown by the experience of Southern farmers, now past middle age, who have volunteered information about the earliest users of nitrate of soda in their states. Some of these planters have been using fertilizers continually for quarter of a century, and one farmer in South Carolina reports that he first used nitrate of soda back in 1875.

As part of the 100th anniversary of the use of nitrate of soda in this country, recognition in the form of a distinctive award is to be conferred upon the farmer in each state who has used this fertilizer for the longest period of time. This award is being given by the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau. Letters from farmers are reaching the office of the Educational Bureau daily and the awards will be made this fall.

"Four generations of Southern farmers have used commercial fertilizers during the past 100 years," says Herbert C. Brewer, director of the Chilean Nitrate of Soda Educational Bureau, "but efficient soil-building practices were not understood generally until the last quarter century. It remained for our educational agencies, such as the extension services of the state agricultural colleges, to popularize the practices which could be depended upon to assure the most economic results. At present, thousands of farmers are doing daily what only a few of the most enterprising did a half century ago."

TO HELP DISABLED

Mr. J. A. Burke, superintendent of Appomattox schools, has received advice from the state Department of Education that Mr. R. N. Anderson, supervisor of Rehabilitation Education, will visit Appomattox on April 11th for the purpose of consulting with physically disabled persons in need of special vocational training that will prepare them for earning a livelihood.

This service of public education is available to any person who is handicapped by some permanent physical disability and whose economic status may be raised by special training for some trade or vocation. The aim of rehabilitation is to render crippled persons capable of supporting themselves. The training is provided in technical schools and colleges or in industrial establishments depending upon the nature of the case and the type of training required.

Mr. Anderson will be at Superintendent Burke's office in Appomattox at 10:00 a. m. on April 11th, 1930.

Physically disabled persons in Appomattox should arrange to see him at this time.

MEETING OF WEST HANOVER PRESBYTERY

The presbytery of West Hanover will convene for its spring meeting in the presbyterian church at Appomattox, Va., Tuesday, April 15th, at 8:00 o'clock p. m.

The session will be opened with a sermon, by Rev. John Bockwall, Retiring Moderator.

On Wednesday morning, at 9 o'clock, the presbyterial sermon will be preached by Rev. W. J. Garrison D. D., from Text Matt. 21:22.

Following this service, the Sacrament of The Lord's Supper will be administered. The sessions will begin each day at 9 a. m., with a short devotional exercise, followed by a business session.

On Tuesday at 8 p. m., a popular meeting on Presbytery's home Mission will be conducted under the direction of Dr. C. Bridgeman, D. D., Superintendent of Home Mission. The public is cordially invited to be present at all the services.

Robt. G. Robertson

Robert Glover Robertson, long a leader in the business life of Lynchburg died at his home there last Friday in the 58 year of his age. His remains were interred in Spring Hill Cemetery.

The deceased was probably better known in this county than any business man of Lynchburg. He was intensely interested in farming and had been the help and adviser of the farmers of this County for many years.

Robert Glover Robertson was the youngest son of Dr. David Pharr Robertson and Mary Ann Glover Robertson, born January 1, 1862, upon the farm near Spout Springs, Appomattox county.

About 1892 he entered the tobacco commission and warehouse business with the old firm of Walter S. Fore and Co., which operated Pace's warehouse. Later with the former Green H. Nowlin, Geo. L. Fleming, J. Frank Pugh and W. P. Bass and his present contemporaries in the warehouse business, John D. Oglesby, Maury Goode, and Samuel Rucker, the present Lynchburg Tobacco Warehouse Co., Inc., was formed of which he was president.

He is survived by his widow, Fannie Perrow Robertson and the following children: Robt. G. Robertson, Jr., Frances B. Robertson, Douglas A. Robertson, Walter G. Robertson, J. Boyd Robertson, Louise M. Robertson, Rena M. Robertson, Helen V. Robertson and Lois M. Robertson: also the following brothers and sisters, John H. Robertson of Spout Spring; Mrs. W. F. Wood, of Spring Mills, and Mrs. Dan S. Evans of Lynchburg.

FUNERAL MRS. JAMERSON

Mrs. George Jamerson, age 62 years, died at her home near Spout Spring, Wednesday, April 2, 1930, after a few hours' illness. She is survived by her husband and eleven children— Oscar, Hunter and Ernest Jamerson of Spout Spring; Boyd Jamerson, Kenbridge, Va.; Charlie Jamerson, Burkeville, Va.; John Jamerson, Crewe, Va.; Mrs. R. L. Bryant, Peterburg, Va.; Mrs. James Eades, Charleston, W. Va., Mrs. E. P. Wooten, Burkeville, Va.; Mrs. R. J. Garrett and Mrs. D. J. Franklin, of Spout Spring. Funeral services were conducted at Redy Spring Baptist Church, where she had been a member for a number of years, by her pastor, Rev. Thomas.

Pall bearers were — Wm. Orman and Elliot Jones, Geo. Simons, Richard Baber and Lewis McCormick. Flower bearers were some of the grand children — Mrs. C. R. McCormick, Louise and Lovelene Jamerson, Cecelia and Dorothy Eades, Sallie and Thelma Wootten, Alice and Laura Garrett.

CHEVROLET

It's wise to choose a SIX!

After all, it is a perfectly simple matter to decide which automobile to buy. Only two questions must be answered to your satisfaction—

First:* Which car gives the most for my money?

Second:* Which car represents the soundest investment in satisfaction and pride of ownership?

Six-Cylinder Motor

In buying a low-priced car consider the following facts:

It is wise to choose a six-cylinder motor—for six cylinders are necessary to take out vibration and roughness. Six-cylinder smoothness will save the motor, the whole chassis, the body, the passengers, and the driver.

The Chevrolet is a six. And yet it sells at a price that anyone can afford to pay.

This very low-priced car lasts longer, not only because of fine materials and oversize parts, but also because it is a six. Its big, smooth, 50-horsepower six-cylinder engine is always "taking it easy." There is no feeling of strain at any speed.

Fully Enclosed Brakes

A similar example is found in Chevrolet's molded brake lining—reducing the necessity of frequent replacement, and consequent expense.

Furthermore, there is a rear axle inspection plate on the new Chevrolet Six. This makes it unnecessary to take the axle apart to examine it or clean it.

The Chevrolet Six is full of such evidence that true motor car economy comes from advancement and refinement.

Delco-Lovejoy Shock Absorber

Like the finest cars, the Chevrolet Six provides the comfort and protection of four springs controlled by hydraulic shock absorbers. They are mounted lengthwise, in the direction of car travel, and self-adjusting spring shackles maintain quiet.

With all its six-cylinder smoothness and power the New Chevrolet Six uses no extra gasoline or oil. Efficient design makes this possible—overhead valves—high compression power from any fuel —very latest high-acceleration carburetor—close-fitting, long-wearing pistons—crankcase ventilation—air cleaner. You can really have extreme economy and still satisfy your ideal of truly modern transportation.

Safety Gasoline Tank

Chevrolet economy is also the mark of Chevrolet sincerity in manufacture. To illustrate:

Chevrolet valves are readily accessible and adjustable. This saves replacing valves, and also makes it possible to preserve efficiency.

With modern low suspension and extra wheelbase, the Chevrolet Six has excellent proportions.

Its impressive front view is distinguished by the genuine honeycomb radiator, another mark of modern cars.

The gasoline tank is in the rear, for safety and finer appearance.

Chevrolet beauty instantly says "Body by Fisher"—costly car style, with the permanent quiet of Fisher composite steel-and-wood construction.

Body by Fisher also gives you a genuine non-glare windshield, adjustable driver's seat, more space, deeper cushions, clearer vision, finer fabrics and fitments.

There is just as much extra value everywhere in the car. BY ANY STANDARD the Chevrolet Six is the greatest value in the low-price field.

It is wise to choose the Chevrolet Six with six-cylinder valve-in-head motor . . . with full scientific equipment . . . with its Body by Fisher . . . with four long semi-elliptic springs, long wheelbase, low suspension, rear-mounted gasoline tank, honeycomb radiator and all the many other features of this day and age.

See your nearest Chevrolet dealer today and drive a Chevrolet Six. Ten minutes at the wheel will prove to you what a remarkable difference six cylinders make.
